

FORCED TO USE WATER BUCKET OF THE STOCK

Seeking Divorce, Alice Newell Recites List Of Indignities

HUBBY WANTED HER TO DESERT CHURCH

Preached Another Religion To Her; Chancery Cases Are Assigned

Claiming that she was forced to use the same water-bucket as the stock; that she was compelled to haul fodder, saw wood and then be called indecent names for not working faster and that she was driven to perform all manner of filthy work about the house, Alice C. Newell asks for divorce from William H. Newell.

These are not the least of her complaints. She avers that she was a member of the Baptist church at the time of their marriage—December, 1915—and that defendant promised to attend with her. On the contrary, she claims that he has refused to take her to church and has persisted in doing farm work and labor on Sunday, much to her humiliation.

Her complaints do not stop here. She claims her husband has been preaching the Adventist doctrine to her in an endeavor to have her observe that day of the week as the Sabbath and withdraw from her own church, although he has never been a member of the Adventist church. This "foolish" talk, she says, so unnerved her that, in May, 1916, she left him and went to the home of her father.

He continued to harass and annoy her, she claims, threatening to take from her their baby, when born. He also brought suit for damages against her father in an endeavor to have her return to him. (This suit was dismissed.)

Stating she cannot live with him, she asks for divorce and alimony. He owns 34 acres of land north of Mt. Vernon, worth $4,000 and $500 in personal property.

Ewalt & Blair are her attorneys.

Robbed Penny?—

William Jones and Wilfred Stiles were arrested yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the corner of Sixth and Main streets by Officer Beam on a warrant charging petit larceny, says the Mansfield Shield.

The warrant charged that they had carried away draw bars, bolts, nuts, angle cocks, air hose, knuckles and knuckle pins, to the value of $4, the property of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The men were arraigned yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Jones stated that he was born in Ohio, married and 66 years of age. He gave his occupation as junk dealer. Stiles gave his age as 59 years and was born in Pennsylvania and single. When he was asked his occupation he stated that he did any kind of work.

The men entered a plea of not guilty. The testimony of Officers Beam

Mrs. Florence Lundgren Contemplates Trip To Orient

MAKES APPLICATION FOR HER PASS-PORTS

Intends To Join Her Husband, But Reports Are Alarming

Mrs. Florence Lundgren has made application with Clerk of Courts Taylor for a passport, it being her intention to join her husband who is now in Hongkong, China. He is an importer, and the character of his business is such that he spends the greater part of the time in the Orient.

In the application, Mrs. Lundgren states that she expects to visit China, India and the Straights Settlements. As she can enter no country except those permitted by her passport, it is necessary to state in the application the countries in which she desires to travel.

Mrs. Lundgren will sail from Vancouver, April 12, on board "The Empress of Russia."

It is very difficult at the present time to obtain a passport, and next to impossible to obtain one to travel in any of the belligerent countries.

While Mrs. Lundgren does not intend to visit any of the countries at war, she is required to have three unmounted photographs, two of which the clerk must attach to the application, with the seal of the court covering half of the photograph, the other half being on the paper. This is to prevent changing pictures. The other picture is to be sent to Washington by the clerk and attached to the passport providing it is issued.

While Mrs. Lundgren has been abroad before, having lived five years in Manila, she is a little nervous and worried over her trip, having received a letter from her husband that the German submarine had sunk several ships in the vicinity of Singapore.

Mrs. Lundgren's home, while in the United States is in Elgin, Ill. She is visiting her sister here, Mrs. Charles Taylor.

Mrs. Lundgren was formerly Miss Florence Wade of Milford township.

Too Much On Paving, Claim West High St. People

Aver That Over-Payments Were Made And Point Out That Street Becomes Narrower

West High street property owners below the "jog" in the street are very much worked up about over-payments they claim to have made on street paving assessments.

It appears that complaint was registered after the original assessing ordinance was passed by council by those residents of the street west of where the width becomes narrow. According to these people, later ordinances were passed by council, making more equitable their assessments. Later, residents claim to have discovered that assessment was made under the original ordinance. The over-payments run $100 and over per property-owner, they say.

MITCHELL DESERVES LAURELS FOR NABbing HORSE

Upon the brow of Harry Mitchell of East Lamartine street must rest the crown of laurel for catching a beast belonging to Bernhard Kern, Tuesday afternoon when the animal, hitched to a buggy, was trying to make itself conspicuous on the west side of the public square about 5 o'clock. The animal had become frightened and was running past Lawler's drug store when Mitchell appeared on the scene and caught it.

BELIEVE ME, IT'S TRUE
"Spide" and "Don" and John and Ed, each one took it in his head, that he would be fishing go. Tuesday was a pretty day, so the party went its way, where the murky waters flow. Wuchner thought he had a bite, Gotshall yelled, "Your pole hold tight!" Snow, he laughed and strolled away. Anderson believed it true, grabbed "Ed's" pole and both went "whew," on the bank the fish soon lay. "Twas a "shiner" nice and fat(?). Wuchner yelled out, "I caught that." Angry words began to fly. Fish was carried back to town, placed on exhibition and, what's the use of proceeding with this verse? The little fishy was the first ever landed by "Ed" which he gave anybody an opportunity to see, although his tales have thrilled many.

PITTSBURGH PLATE GLASS CO. IS HERE FOR ALL TIME; MORE GAS PRODUCERS ARE ORDERED

Cost Of New Machinery Is Estimated At $100,000

WILL INSURE STEADY WORK FOR 200 MEN

Asst. Eng. Heichert Goes Over Ground With Manager Slingluff

A new plan to do away with the use of natural gas in the manufacture of glass and even eliminate trouble that would arise from a shortage of coal has been considered by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass works and the machinery necessary for such a progressive and helpful step is being installed at that place. C. H. Heichert, assistant chief engineer of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Works, of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in this city Wednesday morning to decide on the location for the new machinery and the great tanks necessary to carry out the plans.

This winter was the first time that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass works has been confronted by a shortage of gas. Consequently, only one-half of the regular number of employees have been working. During the winter, the glass works has used no natural gas, but has used coal entirely in order to generate artificial gas for the heating of the melting tanks.

That the entire force of 200 men may be kept in work and that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass works may be a permanent institution in Mt. Vernon, more producers are to be installed as soon as possible. The cost of the new producers that are to be installed is estimated by Manager H. G. Slingluff at $100,000. With these new producers, it will be possible to keep the entire force of men working throughout the winter when there is a shortage of natural gas.

Then there is another problem that will confront those in charge of the plant in case of a coal shortage. The producers are run by coal and, as stated by Manager Slingluff, they necessarily use an enormous amount of this mineral. However, with the new tanks which are to be installed, this problem is very well taken care of. The capacity of the new tanks which are to be erected will be 20,000 gallons of oil. With this amount of oil on hand, the producers could be kept going until more could be procured to refill the tanks.

Assistant Chief Engineer Heichert and Manager Slingluff went over the ground completely Wednesday to decide the location of the new producers and the new tanks.

Manager Slingluff said that the entire force was kept working this winter until the edict issued by the gas companies that the domestic consumers were to be served first. This seemed to make it impossible to keep the Pittsburgh Plate Glass works in Ohio as there would always be the uncertainty of the gas supply. With the new producers and tanks, this barrier is surmounted and the glass works is made a permanent institution in Mt. Vernon.
